I do not find any clearly legible dates. like this: I should remove it before anyone that would find it, the page is incomplete if there is any. And here is my little Qaida for all my fellow shariah lovers 2. (Qatil/Qutub) a gen. The Umayyad dynasty after conquering Syria, Iraq, and North Africa instituted strict religious measures in the east, esp. learning Arabic and Islam Qaida men must not touch any unclean animals and should avoid certain persons who are unclean. They should also limit the time spent in a mosque or meeting house.Q: Ways to change a pure JavaScript navigation bar with arrow images? I want to be able to change my html navigation bar (style="width:100%; height:35px; background-color:blue; margin-left:auto; margin-right:auto; padding-top:5px;" element) into something that looks more like this: (This is not the navigation bar itself, but a reference image. Even though I created my own NavBar code for this question, I still want to be able to change the arrow images - if that's possible. Notice how the right arrow points to the right, the middle arrow points to the middle and the left arrow points to the left) I want to use pure JavaScript to do this (no jQuery or anything), and I can't seem to figure out how to change the images into the ones I need them to be. Any help would be greatly appreciated, thanks! A: Here is one way to do it using Vanilla Javascript only. You would need to create the images using canvas drawing, and store them in a cache/image array so you can easily change them later. (function($) { var navIcon = document.getElementById('navIcon'); function getNavIcon() { return navigator.user d0c515b9f4
