WASHINGTON — President Trump said Tuesday that no one would be fired at the Department of Veterans Affairs until its leader resigned, and he pledged to nominate someone to head the agency in the coming days. Trump fired the VA's interim leader, David J. Shulkin, on Monday and acted to replace him, calling the veteran's health care problems "a disgrace" and the staff at the agency "terrible." The president said he was unhappy with Shulkin's spending habits. During a White House news conference, Trump took questions and expressed his displeasure with the VA. He said Shulkin was "a fine gentleman and a fine man," but that "it's so sad when you look at it," and that a "systematic failure" had occurred at the agency. "You know the system very well," Trump said. "And it's just been, I guess you would say, it's been a very, very sad day for me."Discordance of diagnostic criteria of DSM-IV and ICD-10 in the diagnosis of schizophrenia spectrum disorders. To study the correlation between diagnostic criteria for schizophrenia according to DSM-IV and ICD-10 in a community sample in The Netherlands. Cases (n = 295) were drawn from a representative community sample. They were diagnosed with SCID-R and checked for their adherence to DSM-IV and ICD-10 criteria. The results showed that the degree of concordance was quite low.
