I made a share on the server and I can see in Network and Sharing Center in client computers that they can connect to that share. I can connect to this share from the client through \\computername. However, when I try to connect from the client computer to the server computer, I get "The request was unable to establish a connection with the server. Either the server is not running or it is not accessible. (Connect to server)" Thanks for any help. A: Check the network cable or power. If you have a wireless connection, double check that it's connected to the router and that the router is connected to the Internet. (this applies only if the router is actually meant to be a router - not a hub. If it is meant to be a hub, see the comment from VKR).
