thanks for purchasing and reading this product! for your information, click here to create a notification alert on your device on the day of the event. you will get an email with a link to this page, as well as a reminder from 2 to 3 days before the event. back in mid-2017 we decided to see just how long it would take to get fed up and to fix the hiccups in our code. we had intended to stop with just a few fixes. but after releasing the code, people started emailing us and asking us to make even more fixes. we still didn't know the extent of the problem. we thought that perhaps a few things may be broken in the backend or engine and just didn't know it. or perhaps it could be some quick fix. but the truth was, it's quite a lot. version 2.1.0-mr2 is the first major update to the x-mr2 game client. this version fix almost every major issue in the x-mr2 client. all reported issues and new bugs have been fixed. this version also provides all the additional improvements as described in the following sections. the problem is that there is a reference to the 'pc' dimension in the release notes, but it is not possible to include such a dimension in the version number. it is not possible to add a custom dimension to the gpg signature. as a result of the version number, this community release will be tagged with the '1.0' version number (as opposed to '1.0.1'). this version number can be configured by setting the 'hellskitchenpcgamefullversion' tag in the version.properties file. the problem is that there is a reference to the 'pc' dimension in the release notes, but it is not possible to include such a dimension in the version number. it is not possible to add a custom dimension to the gpg signature. as a result of the version number, this community release will be tagged with the '1.0' version number (as opposed to '1.0.1.1'). this version number can be configured by setting the 'hellskitchenpcgamefullversion' tag in the version.properties file.
